Meet Vancie Peacock, TWnM's 2022 Summer Intern!

Vancie is a dedicated advocate for sustainable agriculture and a champion for initiatives like Think We not Me that increase access to locally grown produce in the community. She comes to TWnM with experience as an intern managing the Student Farm at Penn State. Now a third-year student in Bio Engineering in the Schreyer Honors College, Vancie developed a pocket garden program to help address food insecurity on campus and promote balanced nutrition through a connection with agriculture. Be sure to say hi to Vancie the next time you volunteer!

Upcoming Opportunities in July

- Blueberry Harvest!
- Early harvests of tomatoes, string beans, baby potatoes, peppers, eggplant, and squash

2022 TWnM Season Goals:

- Harvest and donate over 60,000 pounds of fresh fruit and vegetables while growing relationships with Penn State and local growers.
- Recruit a volunteer administrator to help maintain the TWnM website.
- Acquire the regular use of a large truck or van to facilitate distributions.

If you or your organization are able to help us reach these goals, visit us at <https://thinkwenotme.org/donation> or email us at TWnMTeam@gmail.com

New This Season:

We are now Incorporated as a PA non-profit! This tax-exempt 501(c)(3) designation means that all donations made to TWnM are tax deductible, opening new opportunities to grow financial support for our mission to eliminate food insecurity in Central PA.
